BACKGROUND INFORMATION

Our current courses include:

The Preparatory Programme, which is part-time, currently has over 150 registered students. Courses focus on weekly individual lessons and the basics of general musicianship and theory. It leads students towards entry to the Full-Time programmes if they wish to pursue that route.

The Middlesex University programmes are the Foundation course (1-year, full-time) and the Diploma course (2-year, full-time, an undergraduate course designed as a pathway to a final year at Middlesex University in the UK). The first cohort of students completed the Diploma programme in July 2012 and many continued to complete the Bachelors programme at Middlesex in London. In addition to the Western Music components of the course, Hindustani music also forms part of the curriculum.

KM Conservatory is currently housed in Arumbakkam since August 2013. There are two principal lecture theatres equipped with projectors/screens, studios for individual instrumental and vocal tuition, smaller seminar rooms for group classes and a number of smaller rooms used for practice. There is WIFI internet in all teaching and administrative areas. The campus also houses a professional studio, audio-technology suite, an indoor and outdoor auditorium, a growing library of musical resources and a computer lab.
